

Deilah and Keeley Rm2 Margaret Hamilton

Margaret Hamilton was born in August 17th 1936, is an American Computer scientist, Systems engineer and buissness owner. She was A Director of software Engeneering Division of the MIT instrumentation Laboratory.

In Boston, Margaret Hamilton initially intended to enroll to graduate study in abstract mathmatics at Brandeis university. however, in mid 1959, Margaret began working for Edward norton Lorenz in the meteorology department at MIT. She developed software for predicting weather, programming on the LCP-30 and the PDP-1 computers at norvin minskys project MAC. her work contributed to Lorenz's publications on chaotic

Magaret Hamilton

engineer
buissness computer Director America
owner

We Encourage all females to do science if you want to because although you might not be comfortable because there is Lots of Boys if thats what you wanna do DO IT!